

Italian Paradise

Carmine's restaurant in Marina Village offers a feast for the entire family.

It's on Paradise Island that you'll find a real taste of Italy. Carmine's restaurant at Marina Village serves great food along with quality, value and atmosphere.

Carmine's began in 1990, offering wedding-size Italian feasts on the Upper West Side of Manhattan. Its almost immediate popularity led to locations opening in New York City's Theatre District as well as in Atlantic City. Less than 15 years later, Carmine's had gone international. And since its Marina Village doors opened, Carmine's has been one of the most popular dining options on Paradise Island.

Carmine's is best known for such signature dishes as fried calamari and chicken scarpariello. The menu also offers myriad options of pasta, meats and seafood. Check out Alicart CEO Jeffrey Bank's ideal meal.

"The perfect Carmine's meal begins with our amazing Caesar salad, followed by penne al vodka and the porterhouse contadina," Bank says. "Hopefully, there's a little room left at the end for the Titanic: 10 softball-sized scoops of ice cream sundae served over a chocolate torta, with fresh whipped cream and nuts."

Don't worry if your eyes are bigger than your stomach, Bank says with a smile. "Free wheelbarrow service is offered to get you back to your room."
